AMADA announces a comprehensive event program with product innovations in autumn

After EuroBLECH 2020, the world's largest trade fair for sheet metal working, has been postponed, AMADA announces an extensive program of events for this autumn.

Starting in November, the company will present its latest manufacturing solutions with machine and technology highlights, which were originally planned to be presented at EuroBLECH for the first time. Under the motto "It's your solution", AMADA will offer the companies a comprehensive, diverse portfolio of numerous virtual offerings, as well as on-site appointments, at the Solution Center in Haan, allowing each participant to create their own personal solution of information.

For all appointments with personal contact, the number of participants will be limited and the events will be carried out under the guidelines of the current Corona Protection Ordinance in order to achieve the highest level of security for all participants.

"We will offer the companies opportunities to use the restrictions of the COVID 19 crisis positively for themselves by offering them new ways of information and individualizing them," comments Ronald Schildt, Sales Manager at AMADA GmbH. "We provide the usual, complete insight into the latest processing progress and highly competitive manufacturing solutions from AMADA, just as companies have been used to, from a trade fair presence such as EuroBLECH. Whether this year, it will be virtual or personal, in which constellation or combination, is determined individually by the participants.

Dates and more details about the AMADA event program "It's your solution" will be announced in the coming weeks.
